PREPARATION

- Print and photocopy pages 4-11 (pg4 and 11 are optional to print if you want to save paper). Staple them together into booklets or put into a case file folder.
- Page 5 is a 'Possible Suspects' list, which students must keep handy for eliminating characters as they discover clues throughout this reading mystery.

The worksheets must be completed in the order I have put them in.

HOW TO USE

Read page 4 to introduce the activity and state the case for your detectives.

Students must refer back to the suspect list (pg. 5) as they investigate. By the end, they should be able to narrow the suspect list down to just one character. The last character remaining (if done correctly) is the culprit!

Each activity page has a reading component, which is followed by either some questions, tasks or puzzles to solve. The answering section requires students to fill in letters on the blank lines. Referring back to the reading text will help them with spelling and solving the missing letters to complete responses/statements or special words. I recommend making it a requirement to read first, or set a timer for reading time before students are allowed to pick up a pencil to complete the activities. Also, instruct students to highlight the evidence in the passage text to show where the answers are found.

To crack the clue codes: the missing letters on the blank lines go into the empty boxes with the matching number underneath the line. (If you are familiar with my math mysteries, think of it as a reverse way to do this.) I've provided some examples for the first letter in the clues.

Page 11 is an optional way to declare who the thief is, with an opportunity for some extra writing. Encourage your students to write their elimination reasoning with each clue. Tick the 'Well Done' box if the student declared the correct suspect and you are satisfied with the evidence (clues presented). Tick the 'Oops! Try Again!' box if they get the culprit wrong or do not have the proper clues listed. You could skip this part and just have your students present their eliminated suspect list to check if they are correct.

If your students are struggling with this activity, I recommend pausing frequently to discuss in groups or as a class.

ANSWERS

Answers and an elimination guide are provided on pages 12 – 17.

AWARDS

On page 18 you will find some newspaper article awards. You can give these to students who solve the case correctly and provide enough evidence of course! Keep these hidden until solved.

TALE TOWN'S DETECTIVE AGENCY HEADQUARTERS

Little Red enters your office . . .

Little Red

"Detective, I need your help! Last night someone broke into Tale Town's Tower Clock and stole the short and long hands off the clock's face. I'm not sure if you knew this, but those hands have the power to mess with the time all over town. The thief has already started messing with the time. Look at your watch Detective!"

Looking down at your watch, you realize that Little Red is right! The time is saying 12:00, but you just ate breakfast!

Little Red

"It's so annoying! I missed two appointments this morning because the time on my watch flicked back and forth like a yo-yo. If you look outside, you'll see that the town is starting to become frustrated and anxious, too. Detective, please help solve who stole Tale Town's Clock Hands?"

You grab your detective kit and agree to help solve this case.

"Thank you, Detective! I'll meet you at the bottom of Tale Town's Tower Clock in ten minutes. Probably don't look at your clock for the time."

On the following pages, you will visit locations and discover clues. Review your possible suspects' list as you complete each page to see if any information discovered eliminates a character from being the clock tower thief.

You return to your office to think about what could have happened. You still don't have enough evidence to solve this case.

Strangely, a note has been left right next to your computer. You stop to read it to see if you can find any evidence in the text:

Dear Detective,

I went for a walk late last night. It was 11:00 p.m. when I walked past Tale Town's Clock Tower. I noticed someone taking off the clock hands, so I hid behind a nearby tree to watch what was going on. Unfortunately, it was too dark for me to identify the thief. They disappeared for a moment, but then I saw the thief opening the bottom door and throwing something small inside; it looked like a tool. Afterwards, the thief continued to walk over to Little Red's house. Unfortunately, I didn't get a chance to see anything else. Out of fear for being out past midnight, I ran back home.

Tale Town's Clock Tower Fixed!

Date: _____

Thanks to the amazing detective work of

_____.

Time has been fixed and all back to normal again.

It's about time that this time mess was fixed. Thanks to Detective _____, the thief, Peter Pan, has been arrested, and Tale Town's Clock Tower is fixed.

Peter Pan pleaded as Sheriff Humbert took him to the police station, "I just didn't want to grow old! I wanted to be young again. I meant no harm to anyone else. I'm sorry!"

No matter the reason, Peter Pan must make up for the crime that he has committed. The chaos and panic in town upset many, and theft is a serious felony! Sheriff Humbert stated, "I'll keep Peter behind bars until I decide how he can make it up to the folk of Tale Town."

Thankfully, with the return of the magical clock hands, the time has settled back to how it should be.

Everyone is calm and happy again.

A big THANK YOU to the wonderful work of Detective _____.
